A new naval battle was reported raging in the Skagerrak today while British and French troops extended their gains in the Narvik district. German troops, however, ousted Norwegians from the key city of Kongsvinger in southern Norway.

At the same time, French Premier Paul Reynaud and British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain carried on the battle in parliamentary halls claiming devastating blows to Germany.

Nazi Fleet Mutilated
Reynaud told the French senate that "massive and irreparable mutilation" of the Nazi fleet had been accomplished in Scandinavian waters. He repeatedly stressed allusions to "Allied" rather than British troops in the Narvik campaign, and said more were on the way.

PA NEW OBSERVES
Pa Newscaster notes that new 1940 coins are beginning to make their appearance in circulation. The other day he received a nickel in change.

According to information sent to Pa Newscaster, Frank Porada, of 1024 Rebecca street, has some ground that he will allow someone to use as a garden plot this summer.

One week from today is primary election day in Pennsylvania. The closing week of the campaign apparently has not developed any great activity, except on the part of the individual candidates for the party nominations.

Despite the signs, "no parking on this side," and "no parking at any time," there were four cars parked on the west side of North Mill street between Washington street and the first alley north, shortly before nine o'clock last night.

Summer is surely coming. Pa Newscaster notes that some pines are already beginning to bud for Cascade Park, for the coming picnic season.

New Castle's own "roaming sailor" Robert "Bob" Bishop, has been on the move again during the past few months. He postcards Pa Newscaster "hello" from Baytown, Texas, "way down in the southeast. The card was mailed April 9.

Congressman Corbett Assails Administration In Mock Convention

Sports gave way to speeches and professors bowed out to politics Monday night, in the Westminster College gymnasium when the second quadrennial mock Republican convention opened. With much of the hubbub and turmoil of a genuine convention and a few bits that were entirely original, the students of the college opened their three day convention designed to nominate some one for the Republican bid for the White House.

Not the most carping critic could say the opening session lacked color, or action. The leader of the "Indiana" delegation charged the flags were hung the wrong way, tried to recess the convention until they were changed, failed, pulled out half of his delegation, returned, opened fire again, tried to impeach the chairman, failed, the chief sergeant-at-arms was called to eject the recalcitrants, refused, someone tried to impeach the sergeant-at-arms, a roll call vote, failed, the chairman relented, the recalcitrants apologized and the dove of peace was back on the perch again.

Highly Interesting
From the standpoint of the spectators the opening session was a success. To those who have attended Republican conventions the mock session was a vest pocket edition that was unusually true to the detail of the big show. To those who never saw the real thing the show was even better.

For the convention the gym-

BERLIN, April 16.—Germany snapped back at President Roosevelt today for his speech before the Pan American Union governing board and counseled him, in effect, to mind his own business.

Authoritative Wilhelmstrasse quarters commented that when the American chief executive complains about aggressive intervention or interference he is—"unwittingly or not"—hitting at the war aims of the Allies.

To support this contention German quarters cited the alleged French "war map" publication of which created an international stir several weeks ago. The map, photographed in French Premier Paul Reynaud's office during his conference with American Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles, showed Germany with its boundaries considerably reduced.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The treasury department today ordered increases in customs duties on imports from Great Britain because of depreciation of the British pound.

The action was taken in instructions to customs collectors to utilize the official rate of the pound as the basis for determining tariff imposts, rather than the free market rate.

The order is also applicable to the Canadian dollar, the Newfoundland dollar, and the Australian pound. Two market prices for these currencies have been prevailing. The official exchange rate of the pound (Continued On Page Two)

The dead were Noyes and Robert Rideout, an official of his company. Those who escaped were James R. Hartwell, of Brookline, Mass., the pilot, and Charles Smith, 40, the caretaker of Noyes' estate at Marblehead.

The bodies of Noyes and Rideout were found under the charred wreckage of the plane in an isolated and wooded hillside by a crowd of 150 searchers. One of the bodies was badly burned.

Mammoth Mass Meeting Tonight To Spur Progress

As a sequel to Pioneer Week, Billy B. Van comes to New Castle tonight to speak at a mammoth mass meeting in the Cathedral. Counselor of the New England Council, Ambassador of Good Will for the New England States, Mr. Van brings to the platform a wealth of experience gained on the stage and in industry.

Mr. Van was called into counsel with New England cities and industries when a mass removal of industry started along the eastern seaboard. Through his inspiration and the dogged determination of the citizens of the district industry has been rehabilitated in that section.

Van is known as "the man who made two grins grow where there was only a frown before." On the stage he was a star for forty years, on the radio he is an attraction and on the platform he exudes enthusiasm and hope.

It is hoped the attendance tonight will overflow the auditorium capacities. Arrangements have been made for an overflow meeting in the senior high school.

Tickets have been distributed throughout the city for the past week, but there is no charge for them. The committee in charge wants all of New Castle and Lawrence to hear Billy B. Van, and to catch the gleam of his enthusiasm. The meeting opens at eight.

LONDON, April 16.—A new night attack by British bombing planes turned the Nazi airport in Stavanger, Norway, into a blazing furnace and damaged the runways so severely that German bombers will be unable to use the field, it was announced officially today.

For nearly an hour, the British bombers rained incendiary and demolition bombs on the airport. Several big Nazi planes were observed burning furiously at one end of the field. Hangars were set ablaze and the whole airport became a red glow.

Rush Reinforcements
This announcement was accompanied by reports the British were rushing reinforcements to aid landing parties which yesterday won footholds on the bleak Norwegian coast.

Chief importance of the Stavanger raid, and the six which preceded it, was said to lie in the fact that Stavanger was one of the two possible bases for Nazi bombers intending to raid British naval bases.

The admiralty added that according to incomplete reports the Germans lost 15 ships captured and sunk during the invasion of Norway. These vessels totalled 50,486 tons, the communique stated, and the grand total of German losses for the entire war was placed at 363,930 tons.

A further 18,000 tons of German shipping is estimated to have been sunk, the admiralty said, but details are not available.

Total British mercantile losses for the entire war total about 650,000 tons, the announcement said.

Dutch East Indies May Face Trouble

Japan May Seek To Seize Islands

American Leaders See Possibility If Germany Invades Holland

ARTICLES IN PRESS AT TOKYO HINTS

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, April 16.—Growing fear that Japan plans to push into the oil-rich Dutch East Indies if Germany invades Holland was troubling American officials today.
Such a move not only would drive the axis of the new Japanese empire through the heart of the Philippines, but also would provide the Japanese navy with an abundance of vital oil, vastly increasing its naval power in the event of a possible war with the United States.
Official concern over Japanese policy was based primarily on three developments:

1. Significant articles in the Tokyo press to the effect that Japan might find it necessary to place the important Dutch islands in "protective custody" if their parent country became subject to Germany.
  2. Reports reaching Washington that the Japanese foreign office had summoned the Dutch minister in Tokyo for a special conference.
  3. A statement by Japanese Foreign Minister Hiroshi Arima that Japan would be "deeply concerned" over any European developments changing the status of the Dutch East Indies.
- Japan long handicapped as a military and naval power by its dependence upon imported oil, long has looked covetously on the rich East Indian fields. Their total annual production of nearly 8,000,000 tons roughly approximates the estimated annual needs of the Japanese navy. Tin and rubber—vital military supplies—also are found.
- Japan's craving for oil is understood easily. Its own actual production last year was only 2,400,000 barrels. America alone has been selling Japan about 20,000,000 barrels annually. It has been buying also from British and Dutch companies.

RUMANIA ORDERS SHARP RESTRICTIONS ON EXPORTS

These areas will be required to obtain special identification papers, DNB said. No official reason for the move was given.

Present contracts for exports of Rumania's rich natural resources will be fulfilled, it was said, but no future contracts will be signed.

Rumanian circles said the restrictions will not affect the present flow of oil to Germany, but, on the contrary will ensure its continuance.

Meanwhile German-Rumanian trade talks are continuing.

The measures, however, will prevent the British Balkan company from obtaining Rumanian wheat. It was understood that the French obtained a relatively small wheat contract with Rumania just before the Rumanian decree became effective.

Authorities stated that 42,000 tons of wheat already have been shipped to Germany and the remainder of the annual contingent of 300,000 tons will be delivered to the Reich in the near future.

The Canadian dollar in the New York open market is selling at $2.25 cents.

The British pound has been falling since the start of the war in September. The pre-war rate in terms of dollars was in the neighborhood of $4.80.

Yesterday Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., explained that the American government has been advised of the lowering in the pound rate. He said that the British government had not allowed its currency to slump to gain a competitive trade advantage in the United States.

Under the terms of the tri-partite agreement between the United States, Great Britain and France, each of the three nations agreed to refrain from any devaluation of currency for the purpose of obtaining trade benefits.

While the tri-partite agreement is still recognized by the three signatories, wartime economic policies in Great Britain have precluded maintenance of the old pound rate.

"is waging a hopeless fight. It has abused Haakon's name and misled its own people."

According to the agency, an "unfounded" British report that the German air force has been ordered to hunt for Haakon "proves either that the king's name has been abused or that he has been misinformed by responsible advisers."

Tells Of Close Call

EDITOR'S NOTE: In an interview with the correspondent of a Stockholm newspaper, King Haakon described his close escape from German bombs at Elverum, former provisional capital.

It was admitted in Berlin that the Christian government is ruling only over "occupied areas" of Norway. In the northern part of the country, King Haakon may be able to rally the people to his own standard, "particularly if the British eventually succeed in landing at Narvik," a spokesman said.

However, the present Norwegian minister to Berlin is expected henceforth to represent the Oslo government rather than that of Nygaardsvold.

Up to noon (6 a. m. EST), the German high command continued to state that British forces have not yet effected a landing in Norway, even at Narvik. Reports of British troop transport movements were held to foreshadow some such British attempt in the near future, with the Germans minimizing its strategic effect even if successful.

The question arising in German minds is whether the British, if they do land at Narvik, eventually intend to seize Sweden's iron ore mines.

Any Allied attempt to reconquer central and southern Norway is foredoomed to failure, German military officials said. Germany's grip, first established eight days ago, has steadily become stronger and more solidified.

quire long runways, it was pointed out. And the destruction of those at Stavanger makes that field useless. Huge bomb craters dot the field.

British losses in the raid were reported to have been nil. Upon their return, the pilots reported that at least two extensive fires were burning when they dropped the last of their bombs and turned back home.

Meanwhile, British circles anxiously awaited fuller official details regarding the Norwegian landings, particularly whether the French forces have yet arrived to support the British.

It was understood the British force in Norway includes regiments from all parts of the country—several bearing historically famous names.

Filled with men, food, munitions, guns, trucks, armored cars and other war equipment, ships of all types sailed for Norway, heavily guarded by British war vessels.

Although the admiralty and war office remained silent regarding the northern Norwegian port of Narvik, the capture of Narvik "and surrounding territory" was announced by the British broadcasting company.

Narvik Occupied
Occupation of Narvik by the British in a bloody battle that was said to have forced the Germans into a sudden retreat was revealed following the joint admiralty and war office communique stating British forces had landed at several Norwegian coastal points.

For the past several days, all ships arriving at several key coastal British ports have been pressed into service and repainted hurriedly preparatory to departure for Norway.

Meanwhile, public elation over yesterday's announcement of the Norwegian landings sobered somewhat as a result of inspired comment and expert statements to the effect that the decisive phase of the Scandinavian campaign is yet to come.

The Allies, it was pointed out, still are only beginning the task, and a long struggle lies ahead—particularly if the Germans are not checked quickly in the Oslo area.

Congressman R. J. Corbett of Pittsburgh was the keynoter and the temporary chairman. He was escorted to the platform by three love-ones of the college, Lois Porch, Jean McCully and Sally Stanley.

Congressman Corbett had an unique idea to settle the squabble about the hanging of the convention flags. Said he "while the contention of the gentleman from Indiana as to the position of the field of stars is correct, pointing to the north in an auditorium I suggest this, inasmuch as the president can change Thanksgiving order by proclamation, why not have the convention change the points of the compass and the flags will be hung properly."

Blistering Attack
His address for the most part was a blistering attack upon the national administration. "The next Republican candidate for president will be elected," said he. "This country is nearing the end of the Roosevelt revolution. While many of the social and economic reforms of the present administration should be maintained they should be conducted with an eye to efficiency and economy."

Corbett charged that the officials of the present administration were leading the country into a war the people didn't want. That the ambassadors abroad had reached a new low in diplomacy, that they had gotten their jobs through the wise expedient of marrying wealthy women.

Republicans "Party Of Peace"
"The Republican party has become the party of peace," said he. This country must not enter the war and it is ridiculous to assume that we can be attacked from either ocean. Europe must some day make a peace without a victory."

Following Corbett's speech, resolution, platform and credential committees were appointed, and the convention adjourned until tonight. A permanent chairman will be selected, committee reports will be made, and the platform adopted. Wednesday afternoon nominating speeches will be made and on Wednesday night the candidates will be named.

Mock convention though it is, the delegates are playing for keeps. A hurried check of the convention floor seems to indicate a lot of strength for Vandenberg and Taft, with Dewey not without strength. In the background are two dark horses who might come through if a stalemate ensues, Wendell Willkie and Congressman Joseph Martin of Massachusetts. This is merely conjecture but there seems to be a possibility of a stalemate over leading candidates.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

NOT "JUST A KID TRICK"

Those who have read my column regularly for several years must know that I am charitable toward children's errors. Yet, I see grave danger in the attitude of many adults toward small misdemeanors by runabouts. "Oh, it's just a kid trick!" some adults will remark. Some will also relate how they, as children, did things as bad or worse. Well, supposing such an adult did do a lot of bad things in childhood. But that he did not keep on at such misdemeanors is no proof that he was not in moral danger at the time of the particular offense. He just had the good fortune to have been protected by other habits and ideals which were good and gave satisfaction, through the influence of his home, perhaps, or through sheer luck. Had he practiced such misdemeanors a little more frequently and was with other children who did likewise, and had he had poorer home protection and poorer luck, his present state of character and conduct might be vastly different.

Mutilating or destroying small items of property in the neighborhood, or snatching things from the drug store, are types of offenses by children, particularly while with other children, which many parents do not regard seriously enough. They should realize that the habits involved are potentially criminal. If the instance is clear-cut, we owe it to the child to treat it as a very grave. Let no one be fooled about the gravity of the child's snatching small articles from the corner drug store.

But alas! a number of druggists have told me that parents, as a rule, on being informed that their child was caught taking things in the store, will grow angry and charge the druggist with reporting falsely and declare, "My child never steals. I want you to know." Said one druggist, "The report a child for stealing is to lose a customer."

Suppose it were your child so reported. Calmly tell the child of the report. If he says he is not guilty, accept him at his word but tell him that since the druggist thinks he is, you are going to reimburse the owner for the alleged losses. See the druggist beforehand and explain to him what you are going to do and get assurance from him that he won't abuse the child. Then take the child with you to see you pay the druggist. This is your opportunity to prove to your child that you are ready to take responsibility for the loss or damage to any property which its owner thinks this child caused. As for the other children who may have been with your child at the time of the alleged theft, just consider it none of your business.

Then, if you are on good terms with your child, you can persuade him not to go to that drug store again within the next several months unless some other member of the family is with him. I have carefully checked on a number of intelligent parents, the foregoing plan. In all of them the results appeared to be excellent.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

IT MIGHT HAPPEN HERE

Half Moon Bay is a small town in San Mateo county, California. George E. Dunn publishes there a weekly newspaper known as The Review and he has earned a professional pat on the back from fellow newspapermen for a unique and thoughtful-compelling editorial on the war-time censorship now imposed upon all newspapers in warring nations.

"This blank space represents a thoughtful pause in the lives of all of us. The above is common in European newspapers. It is the opposite of what we cherish; freedom of speech. Censorship means dictatorship, which in turn means a people ridden by hate and fear and violence. See to it that it doesn't happen here!"

Centuries before Democracy became a political actuality, the immortal Dante expressed the inseparable union of free expression, in speech and the published word, with true human liberty in the sentence: "Give light and the people will find their own way." Newspapers are fallible, like other human institutions—sometimes wrong, sometimes even unfair in a given instance. But so long as all men, all shades of opinion, are free to think and say and write and read what they choose, the people of a nation cannot long be misled on the facts of any fundamental issue. In a world where half the population already is at war, and half the newspaper readers already stare at blank spaces and wonder blindly what the censor deleted, that California editor's warning, "See to it that it doesn't happen here," is none the less profound because of its telling simplicity.

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES

A mayor of one of the large cities received a letter from a man in a nearby town, which read: "Dear Sir: I got a paper which says Mrs. Ruby Gofrey is going to get a divorce. She is my wife. Leave her have it. I don't want her no more. Signed John Gofrey. "P. S.: You can have the one I got now, too, if you want her."

A local dad made this wise remark:

"My daughter can grandly sweep into a room, but she can't sweep out a room."

Better not look down on citizens born in the old country. Eight of the immortal Fathers who gave us the Constitution were "darned foreigners."

Good Taste

By U. S. Folson Gilman

Too many of us read as we live—for excitement rather than profit. The detective story habit becomes as vicious as the driving habit if you allow it to vitiate your taste for good literature.

Never to have read the great philosophical or historical novels, the great books on modern problems puts you at a tremendous disadvantage when you are forced into a social circle where there is competition involving yourself, your husband or your children. The cinema and radio have offered even the poorest a very rare opportunity for culture.

Do you always turn on the swing and turn off the grand opera and symphonies? Do you stay away from the movies when they show the real classics and go only to the farces and underworld features? If you are young you may one day yearn for one of the opposite sex who appreciates what is fine in music and literature. Will your ignorance of those better things repel or your knowledge of them hold that person?

Readers' Questions Answered

Answer: They should call on you but perhaps distance has prevented this. If they have made no overtures, why not invite them to spend a weekend with you. Suggest this meeting to your daughter's fiancé, telling him that you will write to his mother extending an invitation. The two families really should meet as soon as the engagement is announced.

Naval Strategists Show Interest
Scandinavian Events Are Studied
Believe Soviets Are Not Pleased

By CHARLES F. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, April 16.—American naval strategists are more practically interested in Germany's Scandinavian activities than our army men thus far. The army crowd's professional interest is intense, of course. However, if the developing situation presently swipes us, the navy will feel the effects of it first. We can quarantine against the Norwegian coast, of course, but a Germanized Iceland would be too near a neighbor of ours to be pleasant. And a Germanized Greenland distinctly would be within easy aerial jumping distance from Uncle Sam's shores.

Now, Iceland and Greenland have been possessions of Germany occupied Denmark hitherto. Iceland, upon the Nazis' invasion of its home country, virtually declared its independence. Greenland, though, hasn't the population (except Eskimos) even to attempt to "go it alone."

Berlin, to be sure, says it isn't grabbing Denmark; it's only "protecting" the latter. But nobody in Washington, anyway, has a notion that the Danes are otherwise than a "gone con" if the Reich can make its Scandinavian program stick. Supposing that Denmark is gobbled, it's considered a foregone conclusion that the gobbler will gobble the gobbler-ees colonies, too. Iceland's declaration of independence won't signify; the Icelanders naturally can't defend themselves. Iceland doesn't so much matter to us, either; it's middling distant.

Greenland, contrariwise, is in Yankee-land's very dooryard. Oh, it isn't worth much agriculturally, but the southern end of it is a corkingly important naval and aviation base. It certainly is going to be inside our neutrality zone.

It will be a bit of time before Herr Hitler can get around to attending to the Greenlanders, but that time's foreseen.

How About Stalin?

What Washington diplomacy would like to know is:

What does Russia think about Germany's push to the northward? In the last World War the Russian's ambition was to scoop in the northern end of the Norwegian-Swedish peninsula, with an Atlantic outlet by way of the now much-advertised port of Narvik, Norway.

This time, when the Soviets hopped on Finland, it generally was taken for granted that their purpose was realization of the original scheme to get to the western ocean, as per Petersburg's earlier, frustrated ambition. It wasn't questioned that, having disposed of the Finns, the Communists' next step would be to seize the whole Arctic-Atlantic coast down to Narvik at least—maybe farther.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1940 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Two New York doctors, Lauretta Bender and M. A. Spalding of Bellevue hospital, report, after prolonged investigation, that Father Divine's cult is profoundly disturbing family life in Harlem and leaving in the wake of the "angels" a trail of broken homes and problem children. There is involved not only the physical neglect of the children as their parents "enter into the kingdom," but there are at work confusing and disruptive emotional forces, inimical to healthy family life.

The investigators report increasing juvenile delinquency and bewilderment in the domain of Father Divine's "heavens." We have had no means to check the above findings, which appear in "The Journal of Nervous and Mental Diseases," but they are highly plausible in the light of the disastrous effect of other outside emotional tensions and loyalties on family life in the post-war years.

Both the super-state and feverishly evangelical religion appear to be the enemy of the institutional family unit as we have known it in America. From our traditional viewpoint, perhaps in "The Journal of Nervous and Mental Diseases," but they are highly plausible in the light of the disastrous effect of other outside emotional tensions and loyalties on family life in the post-war years.

From both Russia and Germany, and to a lesser degree from Italy, have come tales of children being compelled to spy on their parents; of parents stripped of all authority, and dignity in their homes; of the absolute subjugation of the family to the brutal mandates of an all-pervasive Gestapo, from which no fireside is safe.

While there is perhaps, among the totalitarian gangs a coldly premeditated assault on the family, the ruin wrought by millennial cults, such as that of Father Divine, is perhaps incidental to the devotee's devotion to the cult. The devotee is ecstatically drawn into a larger family whose emotional cohesion is stronger than any earthly family ties. So it was with Elijah Dowie's amazing Zion City millenium, north of Chicago, about 35 years ago. At that time, psychologists were profoundly interested in psychopathic phases of the new Zion and their blighting effects on family life.

The normal family of modern times has been a slow evolution, and has attained varying forms under different conditions. It is roughly true that a strong state means a weak family and vice versa. Marjorie Mead's book, "Growing Up in Samoa," written several years ago, after years of research by Miss Mead, is highly pertinent to latter-day stress and strain in family life.

Today Comrade Stalin has been forestalled by Herr Hitler.

The best guessing in neutral circles is that this must make Comrade Stalin extremely sore. He probably doesn't particularly care about Denmark. Copenhagen is a mere inconvenient side door into the Baltic. Even if the German and the Russians succeed, between them in managing to get possession of the latches, Germany may get a spell of anti-Russianism and lock the door against the Muscovites.

Whoever one gets possession of a port like Narvik or Bergen or elsewhere on the Atlantic coast, will have access to the whole outdoors. It's a fair surmise that they're jealous of one another.

Italy Versus Russia

Newspaper quotations respectively from Rome and Moscow and diplomatic reports from our Italian and Russian embassies indicate to Washington that Il Duce Mussolini is quite well satisfied with Herr Hitler's Scandinavian campaign, but that Comrade Stalin seems pretty glum.

That isn't surprising. If Duce's realm is too far removed from the North Sea, the Baltic and the Scandinavian Atlantic to concern him. What frets him is the prospect at Gibraltar. He doesn't care in Balkan waters. He doesn't care a hoot for the northern Atlantic outlet. Correspondingly, Comrade Stalin's headache isn't with Italy's Mediterranean. He has his responsibilities to the southeastward, but he can take care of them by land.

Herr Hitler is right in the middle. It keeps him guessing.

School Tuition Case Is Before Superior Court

North Beaver Township Tuition
Case Is Argued In Pittsburgh Court

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 16.—The Pennsylvania Superior Court Monday took under advisement an appeal by the North Beaver Township School District a $23.55 award made Charles R. Sherer, for tuition for Sherer's son, Carl, at the New Castle high school during the years 1937 and 1938.

Sherer declared that because of vocational studies required at the township school, he sent his son to the New Castle high school, and the North Beaver Township School District paid for Carl's tuition. During the third and fourth year of the boy's high school education, however, the township refused to pay, maintaining that it taught the same courses in its own high school.

When the New Castle school refused to admit Carl unless the tuition was paid, Sherer paid it himself and sued the township school district for the sum.

Judge Thomas W. Dickey of the common pleas of Lawrence county decided in favor of Sherer, and the township appealed to the high court.

Township attorneys argued that during the last two years of high school work at the local school, the exact courses which Carl had taken at New Castle were taught and that, therefore, the boy could have studied at the North Beaver township school without the added expense of going to New Castle and paying tuition.

James Glenn Berry argued for the appellant, while Gilbert E. Long argued for the appellee.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, April 16.—The macing trial of Democratic State Chairman David L. Lawrence and seven other party officials officially closed the two-year-old case which has rocked Pennsylvania politics, it was predicted here.

Five Dauphin county Democratic committee members who were tried with Lawrence are tentatively slated to go on trial again late this month on charges of conspiring to extort money from state employees. . . . The conviction was growing rapidly, however, that the case will be nolle prossed.

The whole series of events which caused the furore in state political circles began on April 26, 1938, in a campaign speech made at Butler by Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, then a Democratic candidate for governor. . . . Margiotti leveled charges of corruption against the Earle administration. . . . The next day he was fired by Governor George H. Earle.

There followed a special session of the legislature, legislative and grand jury investigations and three trials in Dauphin county court in which three Democrats were convicted and two acquitted. Among the latter was Lawrence. . . . The fourth trial, with the greatest number of defendants, concluded the criminal prosecutions to date.

Politicians hope for a snappy ending to the primary election which so far has failed to live up to early expectations. . . . The fireworks, if any, will come from the Democratic side as the Republican organization apparently has things pretty well tied up in the G. O. P. primary.

The final week of the primary found all candidates for major offices primed for campaigning in all sections of the state. . . . Interest continued to focus on the contest between U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffy and his opponent, Walter A. Jones, who is chairman of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission. . . . The latter plans to continue stumping until election eve.

Says Sabotage Being Planned

Chairman Dies Reports Attempt To Be Made To Sabotage Goods Shipped Abroad

By GRIFFING BANCROFT, Jr.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 16—Communist-backed plans to sabotage shipments of goods from this country to the allies have been discovered by the Dies committee, chairman Dies (D) Tex., disclosed today.

Dies said his un-American activities investigating committee would launch a searching investigation in an effort to forestall destruction of ships or commodities.

"Reliable information has come to us of far-reaching plans to prevent any shipments bound for the allies from leaving these shores," Dies declared. "These plans, we understand, are being carried out, under direct orders from Moscow."

The chairman said that so far volume of goods shipped to England and France since the war began has been small, and so there has been little or no attempt at sabotage.

The Human Side Of The News

nance of traditional family life is imperatively important in the modern world. Scientists ground these reasons deeply in biology, briefly thus: a baby chick will scramble out of its shell and start running around and peeping; a new-born foal will walk off by its mother's side; a human infant is helpless for a long time after birth. As you go up in the scale of organic complexity, more of the development is post-natal and less pre-natal.

In primitive human society, still eating Samoa, the child is an adult at the threshold of physical maturity. But, as the social heritage accumulates, more time is required to transmit it. In Victorian America, a man might have a luxurious beard and two or three children at the age of 22. Now he is lucky if he gets a toe-hold in a profession or business at the age of 30, to say nothing of children.

Longer than ever and more than ever he needs the nurture, the loyalty and the authority of the family. And he will do well to keep at arm's length both the devouring state and the millennial obsession—both enemies of the family.

Robbery Charges Confronting Trio

Ellwood City Youths Face
Armed Robbery Charges
At Mansfield, O.

(International News Service)

MANSFIELD, O., April 16.—Three youths were held here on armed robbery charges following their return from Ellwood City, Pa., where they were picked up by Pennsylvania motor police.

The youths, Vincent Carbeau and William Justine, both 23, and Rocco Cusato, 24, were said by police to have confessed the daylight holdup of Philip Schmutzler, a restaurant owner, on a downtown street here last Friday.

Carbeau is a nephew of Schmutzler, police added.

All but $20 of the $1,240 loot taken in the stickup, authorities said, has been recovered.

The fugitives were traced to Ellwood City through an automobile license.

Claim Toy Revolver Used

Pennsylvania motor police here today stated that the trio of Ellwood City young men, Vincent Carbeau, William Justine and Rocco Cusato, claim to have used a "toy revolver" and a piece of wood as a blackjack in hold-up Philip Schmutzler, cafe-owner, at Mansfield, Friday.

According to Cusato, Justine and he drove to Mansfield in the latter's auto. Carbeau drove to within several miles of Mansfield then parked his car. Carbeau then went into Mansfield and got into Justine's auto, the police report.

Cusato and Justine waited for Schmutzler while Carbeau took the wheel of the "get-away auto." Cusato claims he possessed the "toy revolver" which he later threw away. Justine was alleged to have struck Schmutzler with a piece of wood.

The trio sped away following the asserted crime in Justine's car. When they reached the point where Carbeau's auto was parked, Cusato and Carbeau got into it. Justine drove the bandit car to Ellwood City. Cusato and Carbeau rode home in the latter's car.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

JEALOUSY

I have discussed in these columns various means of keeping older children from growing jealous of the new baby when all the attention that was formerly lavished on him goes to the newcomer. It really can be quite a problem, you know, and adults who visit the new baby in the family aggravate the situation. They seem to like to throw salt in the older child's wounds from the way they carelessly speak of the new child in the older child's presence.

In another column on this subject I suggested appealing to the older youngster's sense of fairness and making him feel that the newcomer is part of his responsibility too.

This course can be chosen of course only if the child in question is old enough to reason with and old enough to be of genuine help with the baby. It doesn't apply to the baby only a couple of years older than the newborn infant, who is much too young to reason with, but who is quite capable of being as jealous as anybody could be at seeing someone else take his place as center of attraction in the household.

Well, a woman who read my earlier column wrote to tell me how she had overcome this difficulty, and it seems such a good idea, I am passing it along.

She and her husband had a baby just about two years old when a baby brother came along. For some time before the birth of the child, the mother had been considerably concerned about the effect of the event upon the older child. He had already shown unmistakable signs of being inclined to jealousy. When other children came to the house and the father or mother paid a little attention to them, the child was jealous; when they petted or fondled the dog a while, he seemed to resent it.

"Of course we did everything we could to discourage this trait in George," the mother writes. "We tried to explain to him what was going to happen, that he was going to be joined by a baby brother or sister, but we didn't get very far.

Naturally this mother did quite a bit of worrying about this matter, and not without reason. I know I have seen some mighty unhappy cases where a child's whole disposition and a family's happiness has been affected by just such a small thing—or seemingly small thing as this.

But this woman was a mother of intelligence, and perhaps inspiration as well. When she went to the hospital and had her baby, she still hadn't solved that problem. Then one day, she got a brain wave. Quickly she got her husband on the telephone and had him come up. Then she unfolded her plan—the new baby would bring home a present to little George!

Several days later, the mother and new baby returned to the home, and when she did, she brought along a fine, new red, truck. "This is baby's present to you, George," she told the older boy. She made it appear that good things could come with the new brother.

The trick worked like a charm. George now goes around showing everyone the present his little brother brought him, and no sacrifice is too great for him to make for the baby. The jealousy that was in his heart was changed to one of love and trust, due to that mother's ingenuity.

South Side Boys End Club Season

'Best Year' Closes For Group
Sponsored By The Townsmen.

For 12 winter seasons The Townsmen organization of young business and professional men here, has been sponsoring—and managing—boys' club work on the South Side—but this year's work, closed today, touched more deserving boys directly than that of other seasons.

A social affair, attended by 110 of the group that attends the Friday night sessions from the early fall to early spring, ended the 1939-40 work last week.

This year the boys—many young men now—ran their own meetings, with Eddie Sowinski, sturdy young senior high griddier who suffered a broken leg some time back, as president. As the years pass, officers of The Townsmen indicated, this youth-management policy will be stressed.

The clubs meet in the basement of the First Congregational church, Reynolds street. That congregation co-operates to give the lads a meeting place.

The Townsmen chose Raymond Moses, this year's most regular club "attender," for a free Camp Fred L. Rents vacation this summer. A dozen other of the worthy lads will also get a week's vacation there at The Townsmen expense.

President E. Glen McCracken and Past President Joseph R. McFate, of The "Townsmen" spoke at the "wind up" meeting. Alec Samuels heads the committee which supervises the work, financed by the proceeds of periodical dances The Townsmen hold.

Japanese Deny Fleet Building

(International News Service)

TOKYO, April 16.—A published report that Japan is building a fleet of 45-ton super-warships was dismissed with a derisive reply by a Japanese naval spokesman today.

The spokesman charged that publication of the report in an American newspaper constituted an attempt by the United States naval officials to "stir up public opinion in support of further expansion of the American navy."

It was further pointed out that the story appeared on the eve of the Senate's navy bill hearings in Washington.

"500 MILES TODAY AND I FEEL FIT AS A FIDDLE!"

Pontiac owners frequently mention this car's superiority for long distance travel. They're the same miles but they seem shorter, and they're more delightful, in a Pontiac.

As Pontiac owners compare notes with other drivers on their trips, they also discover that few others can match Pontiac's gasoline and oil economy (18 to 24 miles per gallon).

Up in the mountains, Pontiac's smooth, efficient power-packed engine really thrills you by the way it "goes to town." And Pontiac's handling ease stops driving fatigue before it starts!

And whether you go across town or 500 miles a day, it's a shorter trip in a Pontiac with Pontiac's marvelous "Triple-Cushioned" ride!

Food Reserves In Greenland Above Normal, Is Report

(International News Service)

BERLIN, April 16.—Food reserves in Greenland are above normal, Greenland authorities announced today, according to a German official News Agency (DNB) dispatch from Copenhagen.

The report stated that a normal food supply in Greenland is sufficient for two years.

Last week President Roosevelt said in Washington that he had asked the American Red Cross to consider plans for sending food to Greenland during the summer if Danish supply ships were unable to reach the island.

"According to well-informed Danish circles," said DNB, "there is no reason for American Red Cross initiative for relief of Greenland."

"There are special misgivings about the American plan because it has started renewed rumors that the American government is playing with ideas to take over the administration of Greenland, and even to effect military measures of Greenland's coasts."

"Supplies to Greenland are ensured. The stores available in Greenland would be sufficient for more than two years, provided they were used economically."

Hitler 'Doomed'

Says Churchman

Adolf Hitler probably "ordered his doom" when he sent his soldiers, sailors and airmen into the Scandinavian arena, Dr. William P. Schell, senior secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, Presbyterian Church of the U.S.A., declared here today.

Interviewed at Central Presbyterian church, where he appears this afternoon before a formal session of the Presbyterians' Shenango presbytery, Dr. Schell, who travels 30,000 miles a year and who has visited Europe many times, thinks the Fuehrer can't win.

He asked a reporter about the late cable messages from abroad and then, in a general manner, discussed how he feels about it.

He believes that, once Norway is in complete British control, the German leader must move back into Germany to face the wrath of his own people. The British fleet, he says, has never been conquered, and he doesn't think it will be now. He feels all the dictators are on the road "to the scrap heap" and that "it's just a matter of time." In the Orient he feels China's Christian leaders are waging a strong fight against the Japanese—and his whole conclusion, he said, is that those rulers standing against religion and morality will "hit the scrap heap."

One of the Presbyterians' outstanding churchmen, Dr. Schell speaks to the general public in Central Presbyterian church tonight at 7:45. He is in the city but for a day.

ALLIED TROOPS EXTEND GAINS AROUND NARVIK

he was more than ever confident that the "mad dog" of Hitlerism would be destroyed.

But while Stockholm confirmed claims that the Allies were in complete possession of Narvik, far-northern iron ore port, it also reported important Nazi gains against the desperately fighting Norwegians north of Oslo.

War Closer To Sweden
Stockholm, April 16.—While the war in Norway moved ever closer to Sweden's borders, Norwegian troops evacuated the border town of Kongsvinger this afternoon.

Up to 1 p. m. (7 a. m. E. S. T.), however, no German troops had entered Kongsvinger.

British troops remained in full possession of Narvik and surrounding territory. The Germans, however, driven out of that far northern port by British naval batteries, halted their wild flight and turned on a Norwegian company between Mundalen and Bearfield. The latter town is only three miles from the Swedish border.

The Norwegians were driven back and the Germans occupied Bearfield station on the Narvik iron ore railway line.

Germans Isolated
The attacking Germans, however, are isolated and eventually they probably will be forced to cross the Swedish border and be interned. Large numbers of Norwegians, including soldiers, already have crossed into Sweden.

Sweden took extensive air raid precautions, while a state of siege was declared at ports such as Gothenburg and Gavel. From noon onward, no ships were allowed to enter these harbors without special permits.

Nazis Are Consolidating
Although the British held their positions at Narvik and Harstad, a point 35 miles northeast where landing operations also occurred, the Germans were believed to be consolidating in various sections of the country. A German troop train arrived from Trondheim at a station only three miles from the Swedish winter sports resort of Storlien. A German detachment left the train at Gudaa and stood guard over bridgeheads leading into Sweden.

Norwegian troops retreating from Kongsvinger blew up bridge to delay the German advance.

Kongsvinger is situated about 40 miles northeast of Oslo, Norway's German-occupied capital.

Battle for possession of the strategic center raged after a new puppet government was established in Oslo under German control, following resignation of the regime headed by Vidkun Quisling. The new government is headed by Ingolf Christensen, former justice and defense minister.

the host church, opened the church as the official meeting place. Mrs. W. C. Enslie, of Venango County, and regional president, then took charge, amidst rousing temperance posters and pretty floral gifts.

An interesting open forum, "A Home Protection" was led by the twelve county presidents, with helpful and tactful suggestions for future activity work being fronted. "The Home Versus The Neighborhood Crowd" was presented by Mrs. Eva Rowland, of Erie; "The Home Versus The Radio," Mrs. Charlotte Secor of Elk County; and "Home Influence Versus The Movies," Mrs. Mary Philip, of Forest County. At the close of these prepared discussions, an open forum for all delegates was held.

Good Literature
"Good Literature," which included highlights of the purpose of the "Union Signal," a book for older persons, and "The Young Crusader," a book for younger patrons, was well discussed by Mrs. Nellie Wright, state promoter. "The Eye Gate" formed the theme for an entertaining talk by Mrs. Bernice Crawford, state director, which included helpful hints for the production of various "eye openers" in community activities of the furtherment of the temperance work.

Miss Margaret Peebles, of Plaingrove, presented the noonday prayer period, with a stirring prayer for world peace and reduction of liquor traffic. Dinner was served after the close of the session in the church dining rooms, with Mrs. Wilkins as hostess.

This afternoon, Rev. O. Bruce Poulson, secretary of the Pennsylvania Men's Dry League, will be the featured speaker and the Honorable Walter Braham, president judge of Lawrence County, will also address the crowd.

This evening, sessions will convene at 7:15 and Ella Boucher Black, state president, will address the delegation on "Our Babies." Special music will be furnished by the Brahams Chorus, directed by David Rees.

Exchange Launches Citizenship Program

T. Wilbur McCullough Gives History Of Western Pennsylvania Area

PRESIDENT LEWIS NAMES COMMITTEES

T. Wilbur McCullough, who has made a hobby of studying the history of the country east of the Mississippi, addressed the members of the new exchange club members in a North Jefferson street restaurant on Monday evening.

He outlined the founding of Pennsylvania and detailed the highlights of history in Western Pennsylvania, referring particularly to the early history of the New Castle area prior to the settlement of the white man.

McCullough vividly described the visit of Christian Frederick Post to this district during the winter of 1756, and the "Squaws Expedition" in 1776. In conclusion, he urged New Castle's citizenry to read the many monuments in this section of the country, which he pointed out, are rich in historical lore.

Following the address, L. J. Lewis, president, announced that the help of radio, press, school and church will be enlisted for the purpose of conducting an American Citizenship program to be emphasized here by the New Castle Exchange club.

The following committees were announced:

H. Gill Brown, chairman; Kenneth Atkinson, Sam Frank, radio; A. A. Snow, chairman; Harold Gerst, J. Brunswick, publicity; Dr. H. M. Smith, chairman; Dale Andrews, Dr. N. N. Ginsburg, William H. Milson, school; L. G. Genkinger, chairman, Lee Christy, Harold Leach, William Semler, Sam

Taylor, public meeting committee; J. DeLawrence, chairman, Dr. P. I. Ginsburg, new citizens; Elmer Reiber, chairman, William Nesbitt, other groups.

These committees will direct their efforts toward fostering local participation in a comprehensive national program on American citizenship which was released this week by the National Exchange club, Lewis announced.

Common Sense About Constipation

A doctor would tell you that the best thing to do with constipation is get at its cause. That way you don't have to endure it first and try to "cure" it afterward—you can avoid having it.

Chances are you won't have to look far for the cause if you eat the super-refined foods most people do. Most likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines.

If this is what you lack, try crisp crunchy Kellogg's All- Bran for breakfast. It contains just the "bulk" you need.

Eat All- Bran often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

MRS. NICKEL THANKS RETONGA FOR STRENGTH

Acid Indigestion And Cramps In Arms Are Gone, And She Feels Stronger From Head To Foot. Husband Also Benefitted.

Pouring out their sincere gratitude to Retonga for sufferings ended and happy strength regained, scores of Pennsylvania men and women are praising this famous new herbal medicine. Scores report they felt its uplifting effects from the very first day. For instance, Mrs. W. C. Nickel, well known resident of 104 Marie Ave., Pittsburgh, and wife of a valued employee of the Pennsylvania railroad, declares: "For eight years I have tried one medicine and treatment after another in my effort to regain my strength. Nervous indigestion kept me miserable and the gas and bloating from the fermenting mass in my stomach sometimes brought such terrible pains I could hardly stand them. My left arm cramped, and my sleep was so troubled I woke up every morning feeling as tired out as I was the night before."

"The first bottle of Retonga has brought a great change for the better in my condition. The terrible gas pains are gone and that cramping in my arm has disappeared. I sleep much better and I am stronger from head to foot. I feel confident another bottle or two of Retonga will free me of these troubles that have hung on for so long. My husband has been restored by Retonga and I would feel selfish not to pass the good word about this remarkable medicine on to other sufferers."

Roosevelt Will Hurl First Ball

President Officially Opens 1940 Baseball Season With Annual Wild Heave

BOSTON RED SOX PLAYING SENATORS

By BILL ZIMMERMAN International News Service Sports Writer

WASHINGTON, April 16—President Roosevelt officially opens America's second century of baseball today by tossing out the first ball at Griffith stadium to start the game between the Washington Senators and the Boston Red Sox.

Attendance is expected to reach 32,000, including dignified Senators, more fan-like congressmen and assorted Washington jobholders.

Actually, the general idea of the presidential hurling is for the president to grasp the sphere firmly in his right hand, draw back his arm and hold it there patiently while the lads with the news cameras go through their routine.

Grove vs. Leonard

Finally, when the president and the photographers have run out of patience and film respectively, Mr. Roosevelt will wait the ball in the alleged direction of 60 waiting members of the Senators and Red Sox and the campaign will be underway. Probable pitchers beside "one-loss Frank" are Emil "Dutch" Leonard for Washington and the aging Moses "Lefty" Grove for Boston.

Incidentally, this presidential ball tossing activity was started some years back by President Taft, who on many hot summer afternoons could be found within the sun-warmed precincts of the ballyard. The greatest presidential fans outside of Messrs. Roosevelt and Taft were Warren Harding and Woodrow Wilson. Harding once owned a pro team and Wilson, during his last illness, often was driven into deep right field to watch the game from his car.

Presidents caring least for baseball were Hoover and Coolidge, the latter would walk out in the middle of a game with the score tied. While the capital previously had the honor of officially opening the season a day ahead, all major league clubs start on the same day this year. But, with its color and fanfare the Washington game still is regarded as the "official" opener.

Dean Is Kayoed In Third Round By Jimmy Bivins

Wildness Spells Dean's Downfall; Yarosz Over Reeves With Ease

Johnny Dean, local middleweight was knocked out in the third round by Jimmy Bivins, colored Cleveland sensation, Monday night in Public Hall, Cleveland.

Dean's setback, following three consecutive triumphs was principally due to wildness. Instead of fighting cool and methodically, Dean came out with a free swinging style which left him as wide open as a barn door.

Bivins shot across a pretty left and right to the chin midway of the second round. Dean hit the deck and came up at two. The localite tried to duck away from the charging Bivins but to no avail. Another right dropped Dean. He, again, took a two count. However he managed to finish the round and appeared in fair shape.

The Clevelander loaded his right and waited for an opening in the third. It came about a half minute of the canto. Bivins fired and down went Dean. The ex-marine tried desperately to arise. The heart was there but the strength was gone. He crawled on his knees and got up as the referee completed the count.

Quite a few New Castle residents were among the 8,500 persons who watched Teddy Yarosz, ex-middleweight champ, win over Jimmy Reeves, Cleveland, in the final bout.

Andy Wertz, Youngstown, suffered a third round kayo administered by George Toy, Cleveland.

Lifted out of the malibag: In a letter to this bureau, Alex Mathieson, 202 Boyles avenue, asks our support in regards to promulgating more interest in tennis here. So far as we are concerned, Mathieson gets a 100% backing from this corner. It is gratifying to know that there is someone willing to carry the torch for the racquet game here.

Mathieson points out that there are many fine players here, but because of lack of courts, participate rather lightly in the game and consequently are losing interest. He counters by explaining that there are quite a few fine private and club courts. With some impetus behind the movement, Mathieson believes that these courts would be available.

Champions To Fight Monday

Jariak Battles Saunders Fistic Card Includes Noted Amateurs

Padded fists having been still for several weeks will dart like tongues of flame again next Monday night in the Arena when eight bouts, including champions and ex-kings of amateur swat meet. The main or last bout of the evening will find Steve Jariak, champion in the 175-pound division of a recent Sun-Tel tourney, opposed to George Saunders, Golden Glove tournament winner of Youngstown.

Senor Horne, Niles, regarded as the best amateur in Youngstown ranks, will take on Cameron Stewart of the same city, at 147 pounds. Sonny has yet to stage a drab performance here.

Johnny Swanton, Golden Glove ex-champ of Youngstown at 125, will take on flashy Billy Murray of Cecil. This, like the Jariak, vs. Saunders bout, should furnish plenty of action.

Frankie Moran, local featherweight star, will take on Julius Walt of Cecil and Russell Baxter, a good looking youngster of this city, will tackle Andy Benesch of Youngstown.

Frankie Corkey, Golden Glove champion of Youngstown, at 112, will take on a former champion, Johnny Morinella, who is no stranger here.

Bob Carmichael, Cecil, will tackle Frankie Karik, veteran of Youngstown at 160, and the Jefferson A. C. will secure someone to take on Johnny Chingonish of Youngstown, Johnny Regal being overweight.

The calendar shapes up as one of the best in some time. All the boys are training to fit themselves for the battles

George Pallage, stocky veteran from Akron, thrilled bowling fans at the A. B. C. in Detroit yesterday with the seventh perfect 300 in the 40 year history of the classic. Opening his singles trial modestly with 187 and 158, Pallage threaded strike after strike until he was in the spotlight with a 1-in-a-row. Then the rumble of balls was stilled as other keglers glanced toward his alley. He took a careful stance and sent his slow hook into the 1-3 pocket for the eleventh strike. He walked a couple of minutes before attempting the all-important twelfth shot. In absolute silence George again sent his hook ball, more firmly this time and collected all 10 strikes on a clean powerful hit.

DAILY DOZEN
(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Teething has been blamed for many of baby's illnesses. Most children get their teeth easily. The process is natural, if a bit uncomfortable. It is rarely accompanied by any serious physical disturbance. Some mothers think teething causes diarrhea, fevers, convulsions. There may be a short period of discomfort with new gums. Appetite and digestion may be off—sleep may be restless. The first teeth appear somewhere between six and eight months. Some healthy babies have not had theirs until 12 months. The teeth are already formed when the baby is born. Good diet through infancy aids teeth to be good and firm. Such a diet includes milk, eggs, cod liver oil, fruit, vegetables.

PUBLIC FLIES—BUT NOT UP INTO AIR

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, April 16—Daily flights in an "airplane" are taken by the public at Franklin Institute, Philadelphia. This is made possible through a link pilot, trainer, a widely used device for instruction in instrument flying and air navigation. The prospective aviator is able to operate the controls and experience the thrill of flying. Ralph H. McClaren, of the aviation section, said that it will assimilate most of the antics of a real plane. It is also able to perform banks, turns, dives and rolls. —BUY IN NEW CASTLE—

Germany's Naval Losses Reported As Irreparable

Eight Days Of Norwegian Invasion Has Seen Loss Of 30 Per Cent Of Heavy Ships

(International News Service)
PARIS, April 16—After eight days of hostilities in Norwegian waters, Germany has suffered "massive and irreparable mutilation" of her fleet, Premier Paul Reynaud told the senate today.
"German losses amount to 30 per cent of heavy tonnage," he said.
"Twenty per cent of her cruisers and 25 per cent of her destroyers have been sunk, and 15 per cent of her destroyers damaged. Several U-boats also have been destroyed."
"A total of 78,000 tons of German merchant shipping has been sunk or captured during the same period. Losses to allied merchant shipping in this time have been nil."
Indicating French collaboration in the British landings in Norway, Reynaud said:
"Allied troops have disembarked in Norway and contacted Norwegian forces."
